New students arrived on campus for fall orientation in August to be welcomed by Orientation Assistants, Resident Advisors, Preceptors and WAMs. They spent their first weekend on campus adjusting to life at Wheaton and making new friends. First year students quickly found class solidarity at the Candlelighting ceremony with returning and transfer students cheering for them from the balconies of the chapel their first night on campus. They joined new students before them in signing the honor code, and got their first taste of all campus barbecues. They bonded with their floormates and other students in their first year seminars and took a break at night to enjoy social activities with their orientation assistants. They tie-dyed t-shirts, played Dance Dance Revolution and enjoyed a bonfire behind the volleyball court. They learned what it meant to be members of the Wheaton community and were encouraged to “take root, branch out” by being open to all the new experiences awaiting them.

Service at Wheaton

Service organizations at Wheaton have some of the highest participation rates among student groups on campus. Students participate in groups such as Norton Youth Theater, the Community Service Council, Big Brothers, Big Sisters, Best Buddies, Alternative Break Trips, Colleges Against Cancer, and Wheaton's Organization for Women.

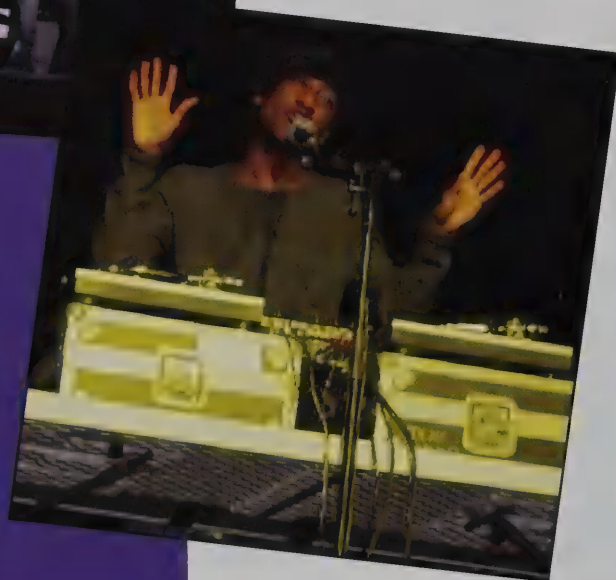

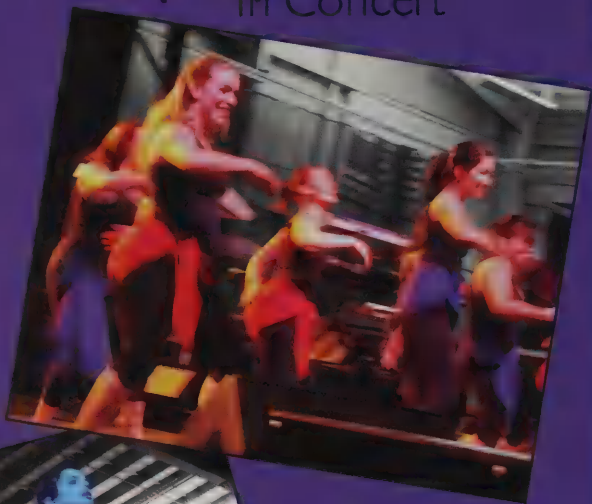

First year students are also required to complete a Season of Service assignment with local charities and organizations. These include volunteering at the Norton Head Start, the YMCA, and the Taunton Housing Authority among others.

It's Big!

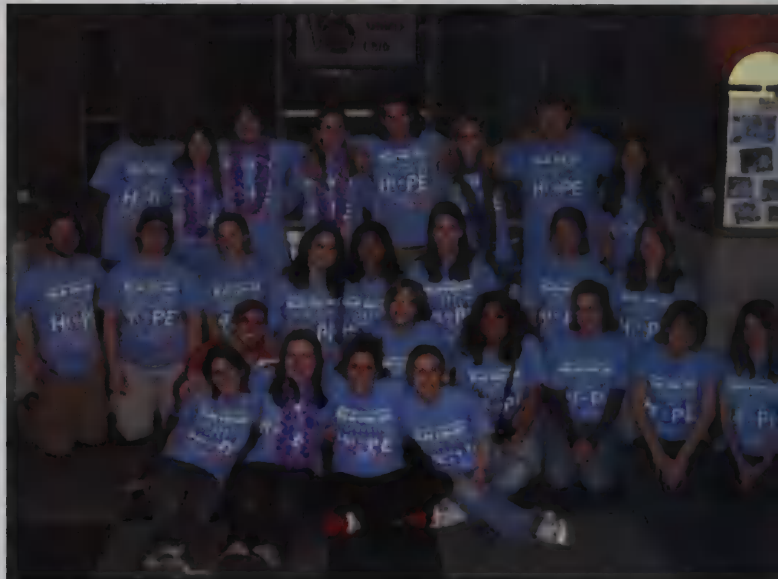

The Wheaton Athletic Mentors hosted their annual dry weekend on campus for Valentine's Day weekend. They hosted speed dating, the annual carnival in Haas Athletic Center, and also brought a comedian to campus. Students enjoyed toilet races, sumo wrestling suits, mechanical bull riding, and an inflatable moon bounce among other activities at the carnival.

I Want Spring

my WTV Weekend

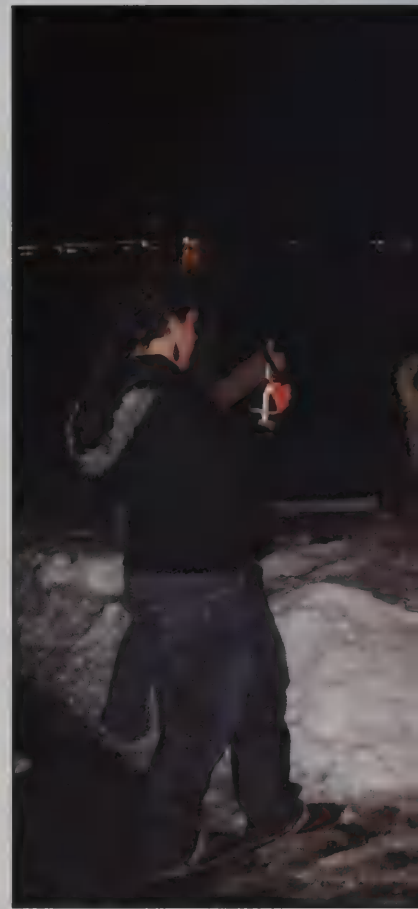

Students took a break from studying before finals to celebrate an MTV-themed spring weekend at the end of April. They took part in all that spring weekend traditionally has to offer with a few extra twists. There was a video countdown dance in Balfour-Hood and t-shirts featuring the slogan "I Want my WTV". The weekend was kicked off Friday afternoon with the Head of the Peacock and WCCS Fest and Head Automatica headlined the concert on Saturday. The Lyons Den closed the weekend by hosting their annual brunch with live music Sunday afternoon. Students from Colleges Against Cancer handed out free sunscreen and our favorite mystery-staff member dressed to the nines to celebrate the opening festivities on Friday afternoon. Freshmen finally understood what their upperclassmen friends had been looking forward to all year and seniors realized how close graduation really was as they celebrated their final Spring Weekend.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

On college campuses across the country, student government associations act as forums for debate, engines for productivity, and vehicles of student-oriented improvements. At Wheaton College, our SGA adheres to and expands upon this model.

During the 2008-09 academic year, SGA made good on its commitment to bring real and impactful change to campus. On issues ranging from sustainability to musical theater, the dozens of members of SGA made progress that will benefit Wheaton's students for years.

This year, on this college campus, SGA and the students it serves demonstrated that government can be an effective, honest, and indispensable force for advancing the communities we share.

-Austin Simko '09, SGA President

CLASS OFFICERS

Class officers embody campus leadership because we are very much involved in the aspects of students' lives. Given the resources at Wheaton, we rely on our skills and ability to creatively organize events that raise the spirits of our class and likewise the climate on campus. Our responsibilities are met with our commitment to do the best, keeping in mind our passion in order to better our community.

-Solomon Odame '11
Class President

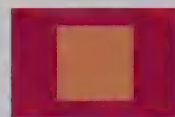

The Class of 2011 class council aims to fill the year with fun and exciting events. We strive to make our class proud and we encourage involvement and suggestions about how we can do our job better.

-Dana Schwendner '11
Class Vice President

Class councils do a tremendous amount of work for their class that often goes unrecognized. It really isn't until senior year that many realize how much the council does, especially in planning those events that the class will hopefully remember in years to come! Not to mention, class officers maintain their positions after graduation, so they absolutely embody dedication to Wheaton as well as on- and off-campus leadership.

-Jessica Brunelle
Class of 2009 Vice President

RESIDENT

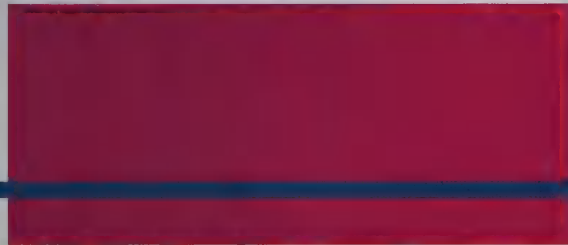

Every R.A. on this campus becomes a residential advisor because they care; they care about and want to help people. Residential advisors are the go-to people in a crisis situation, and are always there to act as a resource. Most of the residential advisors on this campus not only help people through the R.A. job, but are also presidents of clubs and actively involved in SGA. As R.A.s, we ensure the safety of our residents, but we also try to bring the community together. Our programs and presence help make the campus a family.

-Ashley Kuhn '09, Senior Resident. EECS

ADVISORS

PEER HEALTH ADVOCATES

The Peer Health Advocates play a leading role in making Wheaton a healthier place to live. Serving as student ambassadors to health-related issues and events important to the Wheaton community, the Peer Health Advocates help students with obtaining information and resources regarding sexual health, alcohol and other drugs, stress, nutrition, mental health, sleep, violence and many other things that impact campus health.

-Danica Peterson '09
Health & Wellness Intern

WHEATON ATHLETIC MENTORS

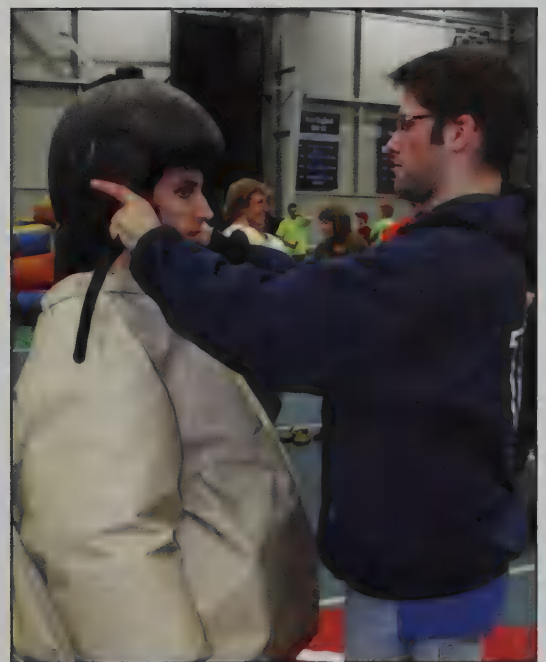

The Wheaton Athletic Mentors (WAMs), the school's student-athlete advisory committee (SAAC), are a select group of student-athletes who provide a forum for the student-athletes and serve as a liaison between the student-athletes and the administration at the academic and athletic levels.

- John Sutyak, Associate Director of Athletics

The WAMs design and implement programs to encourage academic achievement, healthy lifestyles and social responsibility thereby enhancing the student-athlete experience.

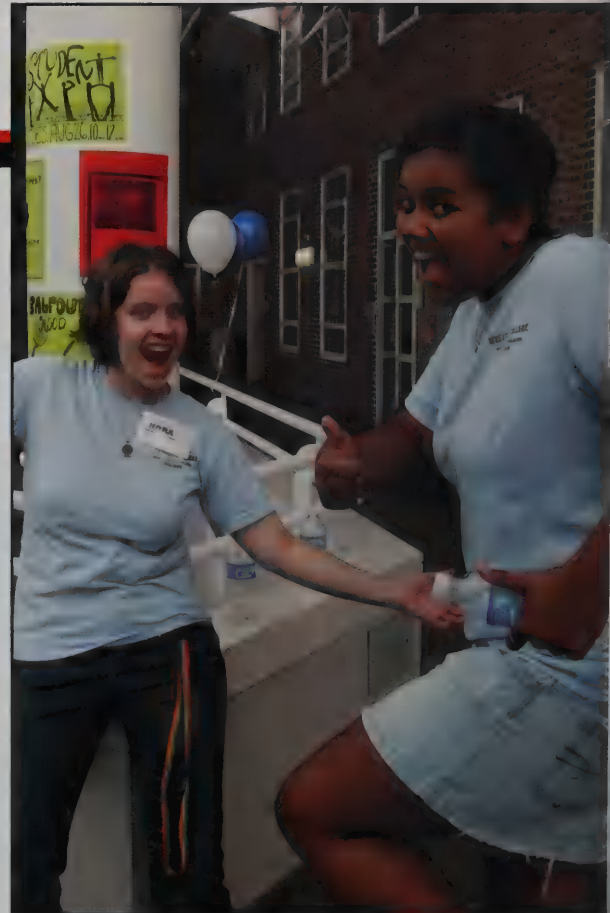

ORIENTATION ASSISTANTS

Orientation Assistants return to campus early each semester to welcome new students to Wheaton. They make banners and flyers advertising orientation events, staff programs and help new students by answering questions and helping them navigate the campus during their first few days here.

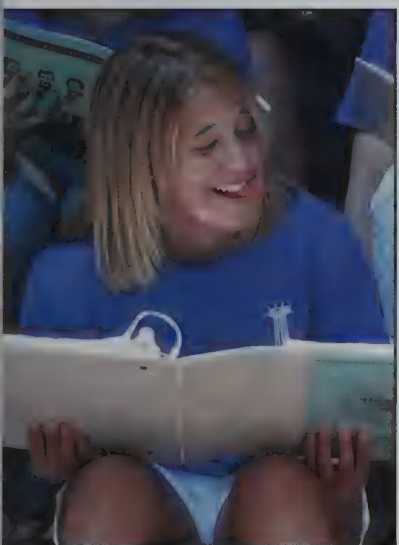

-Kelly Robinson '09, Orientation Coordinator

PRECEPTORS

Preceptors serve as academic advisors and personal mentors for the incoming freshman class. They work with FYS faculty in order to facilitate students' development of essential academic and life skills. Additionally, preceptors assist with orientation activities that promote school spirit and collaborative learning. Throughout the year they continue to meet with their first year students, helping them with course selection, time management, and study skills. They also offer their preceptees useful words of wisdom, ensuring that they transition smoothly from high school to college life.

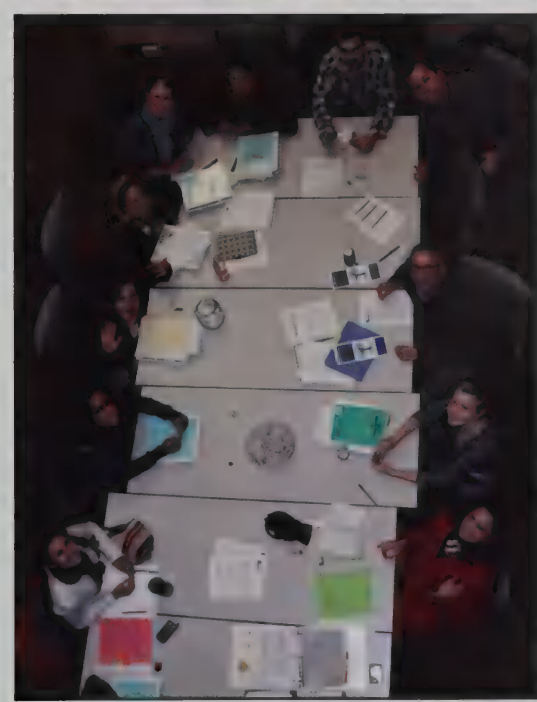

-Meghan Smith '09, Dean's Intern, Academic Advising

CAMPUS LEADERSHIP

CANDIDS

Speaking in Tongues

Academics at Wheaton are often taken to the next level when students choose to organize clubs in their favorite academic disciplines. The French Club as described by Willa Kaufman is, "where people who share a common interest can come together and celebrate the French culture and language. This is carried out by cooking French food, playing French games, watching French movies and going to museums, restaurants and on trips." The German Club organized a Wheaton version of the popular German Oktoberfest this past fall that celebrated the German tradition in Balfour. In addition, the German Club had cookie baking sessions as well as dinners at the Davis House. The Physics Club is a group of science whizzes who enjoy Physics so much they created a club devoted to the subject.

French Club members gather during the holidays to celebrate French culture and food.

Physics Club: "In science one tries to tell people, in such a way as to be understood by everyone, something that no one ever knew before. But in poetry, it's the exact opposite." - Paul Dirac

Talking about Culture

At Wheaton students celebrate their cultural backgrounds by forming intercultural clubs such as the Black Student Association, the Asian American Coalition, and the International Student Association. Each club has a mission to incorporate their culture into the greater Wheaton community by educating others about their traditions and heritage.

International Student Association

Bottom: Members of the Asian American Coalition serve food during Homecoming Weekend.

The Black Student Association is a resource for its members through workshops, forums, and other social activities. The Asian American Coalition holds many activities in Balfour throughout the year to celebrate events such as the Lunar New Year with the Wheaton community. The Asian American Coalition also went on trips to Boston and New York to listen to lectures on Asian-American identity. Wheaton students from around the world gather in the International Student Association to make their presence known on campus through activities such as the International Fair in Balfour.

In celebration of the Lunar New Year, students were able to partake in activities such as making their own spring rolls in Balfour.

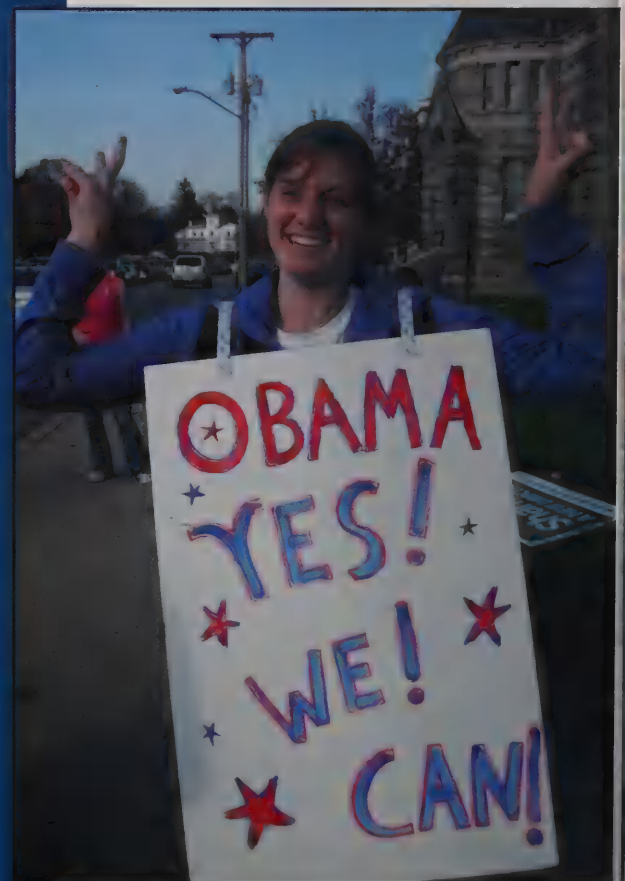

November 4, 2008: For many Wheaton students this was the first presidential election in which they voted, and the excitement was felt all over campus. The College Conservatives and College Democrats had a "Get Out the Vote" campaign by hosting a bi-partisan voter registration table with the Office of Service, Spirituality and Social Responsibility. The energy on campus was very high by Election Day.

Serving the Community

Encouraging new membership at the bi-annual activities fair are leaders of BACCHUS and Colleges Against Cancer.

Service clubs such as College Against Cancer, BACCHUS, and Best Buddies give Wheaton students an opportunity to give back to the community. The Wheaton Best Buddies chapter was re-launched in the fall and fostered one-to-one friendships between people with and without intellectual disabilities. BACCHUS organized many dry events on and off campus while Colleges Against Cancer held the very successful annual Relay for Life in March.

Above: Best Buddies members enjoy the Halloween/Fall Fest party. In addition to group activities, students are encouraged to maintain regular contact with their Buddies through phone calls, e-mails, and individual get-togethers.

Two-pronged Mission: to build alcohol awareness and to provide alternative programs for Wheaton students.

Best Buddies is an international organization dedicated to fostering one-to-one friendships between people with and without intellectual disabilities.

Colleges Against Cancer works with the American Cancer Society to provide cancer education programming on campus.

Sharing Faith

While Wheaton College is not religiously affiliated, Christian Fellowship and the Interfaith Alliance create an environment on campus where those who choose to participate can share and experience their faith along with other students. The Interfaith Alliance held many events throughout the year including the celebration of Holi, a Hindu festival in the spring. Weekly meetings of these two clubs let members express their shared faiths in a safe environment.

The Wire Editorial Board

Fresh off the Press

With deadlines to meet and pictures to be taken the Wire, Nike, and Rushlight had plenty to do this year. Each publication had a dedicated staff that worked hard all year long to document what happened at Wheaton during the 2008-2009 academic year.

Dance: To be part of the Paraiso Latino Dance Performing Group or the Wheaton College Dance Company two left feet are not acceptable. These two groups offered students a chance to explore dance and perform throughout the year. The Dance Company work with modern and jazz dance while Paraiso Latino performs latin dances alongside their live band.

Hitting the High Notes

Singing at Wheaton is a popular past time and there are many different options for those aspiring to join a cappella groups on campus. The Whims and Wheatones provide all-female options while the Gentleman Callers are the only all-male group on campus. The Gentleman

Wheatones

Whims

Gentleman
Callers

Callers celebrated their 20th anniversary this year and released their new album "Sell Out" with the modern production style of a cappella music. The Wheatones are the oldest a cappella group on campus and perform songs that are eclectic in style coming from genres such as pop, folk, jazz and ska. The Whims are the second all-female group on campus averaging about twelve members and go by the saying "Once a Whims, always a Whims." All the a cappella groups performed at various venues on campus, including the Chapel and Slype.

Living in Themes

Housing at Wheaton gave students a chance to express their passions within their living arrangements. Students in Beard lived in cluster arrangements that served as learning communities. Each cluster gave students a chance to further their academic interests. Residents of Keefe lived in suites and each suite had a theme such as health, spirituality, or athletics. Houses created a third option for students. Each house also had a theme and let a larger group of students live together. Houses during the 2008-09 school year included "Women in Science" house, "Activist House", "Spectrum House", "House of the Living Arts (HOLA)", "ECCO" house, "Education Through Technology" house, "Outdoors House", and the "Women of Color/Social Responsibility" house.

Junior Year Abroad

Disorientation

On Thursday, April 30, seniors met at Haas Athletic Center to pile onto buses and head off to an undisclosed location for Disorientation. We pestered our class officers for details about our destination without any luck. Everytime we passed an exit on 495 we crossed another possibility off the list. We eventually made it to the Beer Works Brewery in Lowell, MA.

At the first of many seniors-only activities, it finally hit us--the end was near. We reunited with classmates from new student orientation and FYS and celebrated with the friends we had made during our four years at Wheaton.

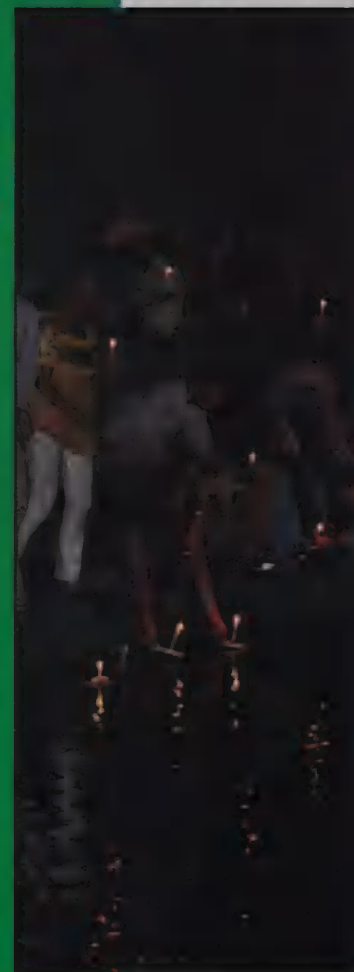

We enjoyed our one free drink, played pool, watched the Celtics and Red Sox games, rode the mechanical bull, played air hockey, danced and relaxed.

Upon our return to campus, we followed in the footsteps of disoriented seniors before us, raiding resident hall bathrooms and planting underclassmen's toothbrushes in the dimple.

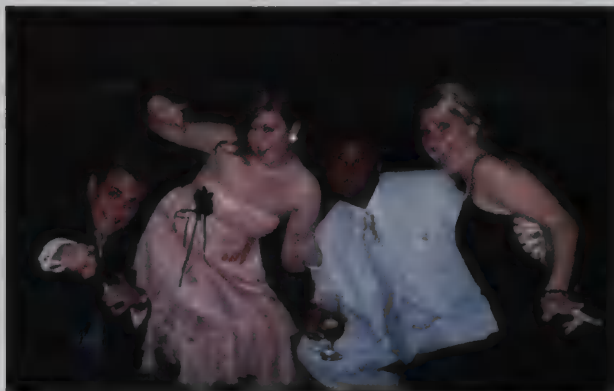

one last Chance

With only one week at Wheaton to go, the class of 2009 embarked upon the task of getting everything on our Wheaton to-do lists completed before Commencement. Last trips were made to Sporty's, the Cape, Target, and Mansfield Crossing. We had our final days at the Loft, in Emerson and lounging in the dimple. We participated in the Hoop Roll after the White Glove Brunch, had a block party at the Clark Center, went to the Rosecliff Ball in Newport and were finally allowed to attend the EECS Courtyard Party. We successfully met our Class Gift goal, and President Crutcher joined us in our last chance to go for a swim in Peacock Pond. We reminisced on old memories and made new ones with friends and said goodbye to Wheaton with a bang. Senior Week was our last chance to say goodbye to our home for the past four years, and the pictures say it all...

Rosecliff

a.k.a. "Prom"

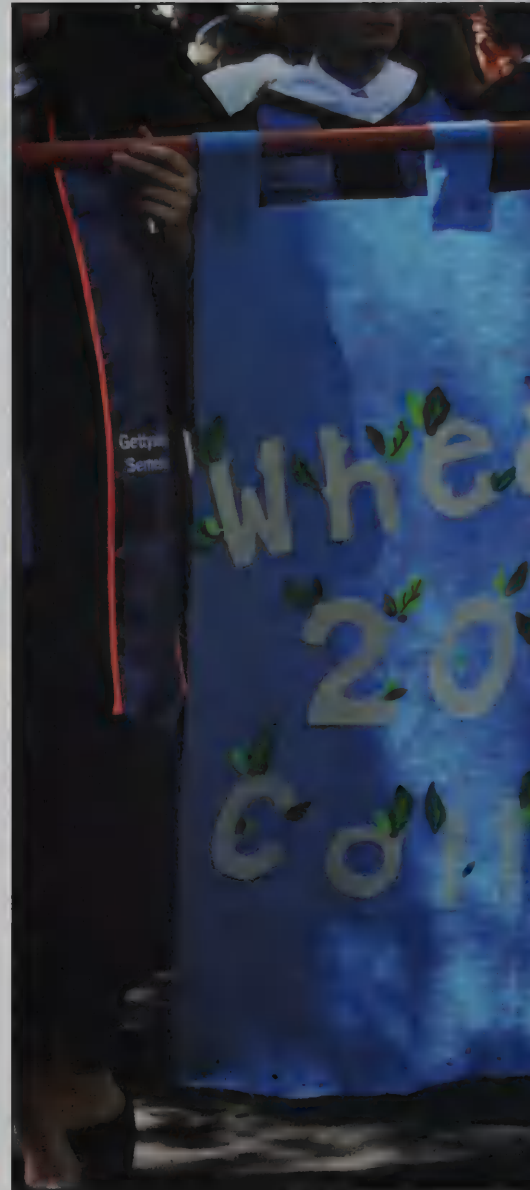

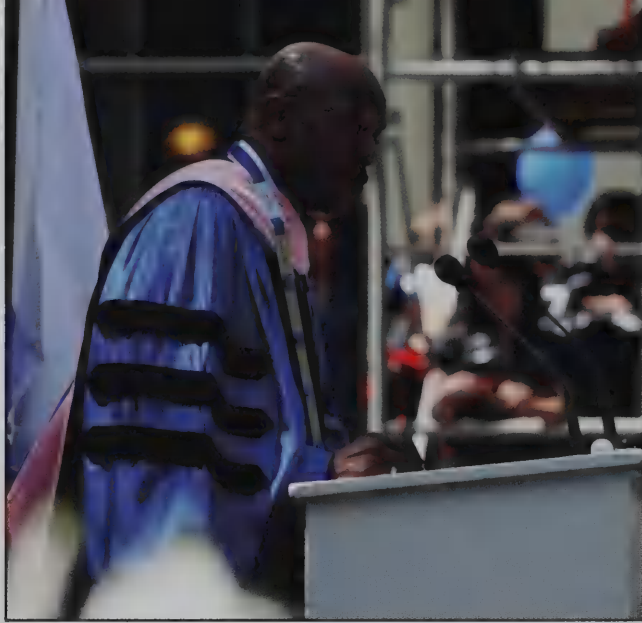

"The woman at the toll booth asked if there was a prom tonight... we said yes."

"You mean like a prom?" is the question many of us were probably asked when trying to explain Rosecliff to our families and friends who were unfamiliar with the Wheaton tradition. What we actually experienced was like a chapter out of F. Scott Fitzgerald's The Great Gatsby. A ball with a live band in a historic Newport mansion with a ball room, a grand staircase, and of course a gorgeous fountain.

And who can forget the mashed potatoes served in martini glasses? Although the experience was in many ways reminiscent of our high school proms and perhaps felt a little bit like dress up, it was certainly a beautiful evening to celebrate with our friends before we became grown ups.

After causing quite the uprise because so many members of the class wanted to attend, that we actually ran out of tickets, it is safe to say the evening was well worth the scandal and another wonderful Wheaton tradition to cross off our to-do lists and talk about at future reunions.

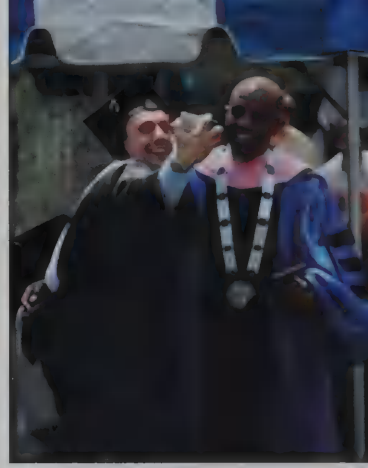

Wheaton's 174th Commencement

On Saturday, May 16, 2009, the class of 2009 was joined by members of the Wheaton community to celebrate the college's 174th Commencement. Alums, families, friends, students, faculty and staff lined the dimple as the class celebrated the end of their Wheaton careers and the beginning of a new chapter in their lives. Massachusetts Governor Deval Patrick gave the Commencement address and challenged the graduates to imagine a better world and set out to make change.

Some of the members of the class of 2009 will spend their first year after Wheaton in the work force, while others will continue with their studies. Some will spend their first year out of college performing scholarly research, doing volunteer work or traveling. Wherever the members of the class may find themselves, their Wheaton education is sure to be alongside them.

“The spacious heav’ns declare the glory of our God;
The firmament displays His handiwork aboard;
Day unto day doth utter speech,
And night to night doth knowledge to teach.
Aloud they do not speak; they utter forth no word,
Nor into language break; their voice is never heard;
Yet through the world their line extends,
Their words to earth’s remotest ends.”

Psalm 19: 1-4

Kathryn,

You entered Wheaton loving Tolkein, Latin, & Italian.
While at Wheaton you studied in Edinburgh:
Linguistics, History, and Culture. You observed a BIGGER sky
& experienced a BIGGER GOD!
You made it to Italy.

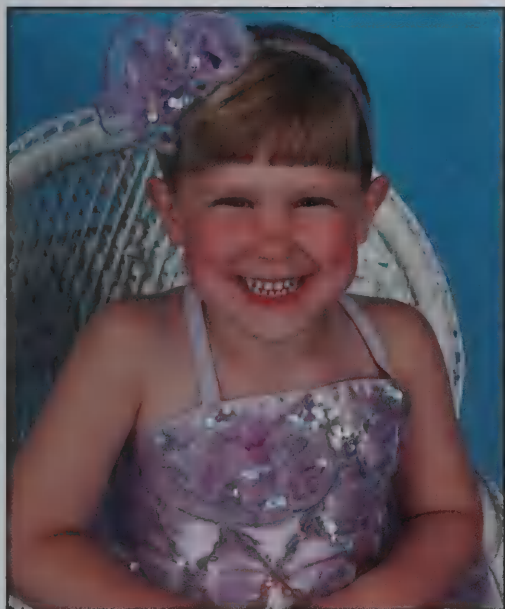

Upon leaving Wheaton you had concentrated studies in the birth of stars & having assisted in a birth of child.
Where ever you end up living you will always claim your permanent spiritual address with your
Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.
You have been a gift to me!
I thank the Creator of the Heavens & Earth.
Love you from Now through Eternity.

Mum

Dear Lauren,

Some people say that the best thing about sisters is that they can grow separately without ever growing apart. I love you and I'm so proud of you. As you begin a new chapter in your life, remember—it's not the years in your life that count. It's the life in your years. So have fun and do what you love to do! Love you always, Ally

My Wish

*I hope the days come easy and the moments pass slow,
And each road leads you where you want to go,
And if you're faced with a choice, and you have to choose,
I hope you choose the one that means the most to you.
And if one door opens to another door closed,
I hope you keep on walkin' til you find a window,
If it's cold outside, show the world the warmth of your smile.*

*I hope you never look back, but ya never forget,
All the ones who love you, in the place you left,
I hope you always forgive and you never regret,
And you help somebody every chance you get,
Oh, you find God's grace, in every mistake,
And always give more than you take.*

But more than anything...

*My wish for you, is that this life becomes all that you want it to,
Your dreams stay big, your worries stay small,
You never need to carry more than you can hold,
And while you're out there getting where you're getting to,
I hope you know somebody loves you, and wants the same things too,
This, is my wish.*

Congratulations to the Class of 2009! From the Nike Staff

Thank you to everyone who submitted photos, participated in senior portrait sessions, and came to our class picture! We would not have been able to publish this book without all of your support and that of the Offices of Student Life, Alumnae/i Relations, Communications and The Arts Department. We hope you enjoy the 2009 edition of Nike as you look back fondly on our years together at Wheaton.
